

Letters of Recommendation

The trip to Washington D.C. is an exciting opportunity to learn about the history of our country. We will be traveling over two thousand miles across the country to see all kinds of wonderful, educational, sacred and interactive places. This is not a vacation and more than likely your parent(s) will not be with us. So I do not want students going on the trip that think it is an opportunity to act disrespectful, not follow directions or not be able control their behavior. So I am requiring each student to get two letters of recommendation from non-family members. This could be a teacher, coach, religion leader, close friend of the family, scout leader, employer or any other adult you have had a positive relationship with (if you are not sure see me). The letters should talk about the students:

- Character
- Behavior
- Academics
- Handling responsibility
- Relationship with the student
- Why you think they should go on an educational trip to Washington D.C.
- Anything else you want to mention about the student.

All letters of recommendation are due to Mr. Storholt by the November 24th meeting
